

Developmental Milestone Check List

12-15 Months

Print this list and check the activities your child can do. Share it with your child's health care professional or teacher or keep for your records.

Child's Name _____ Child's age _____

At this age, toddlers are making their first efforts at independence. They begin walking and talking. Hearing them say "It's mine" is common. Toddlers are aware of other children, but still may prefer to play alone.

- What activities might your child do?
- Can build a stack of 2-3 blocks or cans
- Is using more hand motions for what he wants
- Will pat pictures in books
- Is starting to say several words
- Makes noises as if she is talking
- Will try to find things if asked, "Where's the....?"
- Can roll a ball back
- Can copy things he sees others do
- Prefers some toys over others
- Can help turn pages
- Can help when she is dressed
- Can use a spoon (with spilling)
- Can walk
- Can climb stairs on hands and knees
- Can pick up small things, like Cheerios using thumb and finger

Each activity your child is doing is typical of his or her age.

If your child isn't doing all the activities, it doesn't mean anything is wrong. Children can vary by as much as six months in some of the things they are able to do. If you do have questions about your child's development, you can call the CONNECT Helpline, a program of the State of Pennsylvania.
